Cross Cultural Nursing Practice – What is it all about?

Caregivers are increasingly sought after world-wide. This demands for an excellent development of healing skills, which is exactly what we attach great importance to. On the one hand, we guide you in developing these skills to take over medical and nursing task. On the other hand, we also grow your awareness so you can apply the necessary sensitivity when dealing with other cultures.

Our modules optimally prepare you for evidence-based care because our main focus is not only on theory but on learning through skills trainings. Internships help you understand the healthcare system and enhance your skills and knowledge.

The fields of application as well as career and further development opportunities are immense in a country like Germany, which is witnessing rapid new developments in the healthcare sector.
